Though the online screen recorders with no need to download are convenient to use, we have to admit that the browser-based recorder usually comes with fewer features while a desktop recorder is often packed with more advanced and useful features. When you want to record videos on your PC screen with both high quality and no lag, it's the desktop recorder that matters. Not only that, if you have the need to record gameplay, it usually takes time and effort to find a screen recording software with both a smooth and excellent performance. To save your time in finding out the best screen recorder, we've tested various screen recording software, and is going to show you our best recommendation for beginners and even gamers - FonePaw Screen Recorder. Best Screen Recorder to Record Your Desktop FonePaw Screen Recorder is a versatile desktop screen and audio recorder that is compatible with Windows 11/10/8/7 and Mac. Free Download Buy with 20% off Free Download Buy with 20% off Compare with the built-in desktop recording tool, FonePaw Screen Recorder can flexibly record from a full computer screen, a specific program window, and a customized area. It's also a smart tool to record sound, which can easily capture both the system sound and your voiceover. If you want to record a gaming video, FonePaw Screen Recorder also comes with a specially-designed Game Recorder to meet your need. As you enable the game recorder, it only will focus on the gaming window you've chosen and won't capture other extra desktop activities. Other highlighted functions include Webcam Recorder, Audio Recorder (record internal sound and external audio), and Snapshot that can handle various situations. Not only that, the FonePaw desktop recorder also stands out with many advanced features. Record screen videos in high definition at up to 60 fps; Enable hardware acceleration so that the computer runs more smoothly in recording gameplay or other processor-heavy screen activities; Save screen capture in various formats: PNG, GIF or videos (MP4, MOV, AVI, TS, etc.); Offer scheduled recordings to automatically record a game, live streaming, and even a live sports event; Add annotations in real-time when screen recording videos (best for recording tutorial videos); Customizable hotkeys to control screen capture; Highlight mouse cursor in screen videos; Hide desktop icons during recording; Show countdown before filming the computer screen. Free Download Buy with 20% off Free Download Buy with 20% off With all these amazing features available, we highly recommend that you download and try out the free FonePaw Screen Recorder. Unlike many other free screen recorders that add watermarks to your screen recording video, FonePaw Screen Recorder is a watermark-free desktop screen recorder you can fully take advantage of. With a clean and sleek interface, it is quite easy to operate. The following are the steps to record desktop screens with FonePaw Screen Recorder. How to Record Desktop with FonePaw To capture a video of your computer screen, click Video Recorder to start recording your desktop activity. The free trial version allows you to record videos no longer than 3 minutes, and will no cover watermarks on them. Free Download Buy with 20% off Step 1. Select Desktop Recording Area Toggle on the button for Display. Then click Full or Custom to select the recording region: full screen, customized area, preset frame (1080p, 720p, etc.). You can allow the recording region to move following the mouse cursor if you tick the check box in the Recording tab in preference settings. Step 2. Enable Webcam (Optional) If you need to record the webcam at the same time on your screen, turn on the Webcam button. Step 3. Adjust Audio Settings for Desktop Screen Recording Turn on the buttons for System Sound and Microphone to enable the desktop recorder to record audio of the computer and microphone. Drag the slider to adjust the volume. Step 4. Customize Recording Settings Click More Settings, and this will open the Preference panel that gives you many options. For example, you can add mouse cursor effects with different colors, allow to move the recording region during recording, and select the format of the screen videos. Step 5. Record Computer Screen When you have set up all parameters, click REC. The desktop screen recording will begin. You can add annotations or schedule a recording with the options in the floating panel. Click the Stop button to end the recording. You can then view the screencast. If you are satisfied, save the video on your PC. NOTE: When FonePaw Screen Recorder is running, you can also use keyboard shortcuts to activate and stop screen video recording. The default hotkeys to start a screen video capture is Ctrl + Alt + R. The hotkeys to end a recording is Ctrl + Alt + R. You can customize the hotkeys in Settings. Other than working as a desktop screen recorder, FonePaw Screen Recorder can also serve as a desktop audio recorder. It can record the audio of your computer, including the sound of the system and the voice from your microphone, and other external sources that are connected to your computer. After that, you can save the audio in common output formats such as MP3, WMA, M4A, AAC, and so on. Free Download Buy with 20% off Free Download Buy with 20% off FAQs About Desktop Recording on FonePaw Screen Recorder Does the Desktop Recorder Have Access to My Recordings? No, it's your privacy. Only you and the people with whom you share the screen recording can see the video. FonePaw Screen Recorder will never have access to your desktop recordings unless you need any support from our technical team and share them with us. Why Can't I See the Cursor on My Desktop Recording? It may be because you unticked "Show mouse cursor" in the preference settings. You will be able to record your mouse cursor by setting it up. On the Video Recorder page, click the gear icon then go to tab Mouse. It's the first option there. Will There Be a Watermark on My Desktop Recording on a Free Trial Version? No. FonePaw Screen Recorder allows you to record your desktop without any software watermark both on a free trial version or a full version. What's more, you can add watermarks that you like on the videos of the desktop you take with texts or images. Are There Any Other Best Screen Recording Software? Movavi Screen Recorder Movavi Screen Recorder is also among the best choices for screen capturing on the desktop. It offers you various recording modes including video/audio/webcam/scheduled recording, and is easy to set up shortcuts, record keystrokes, mouse effects, and share the recorded to online platforms like YouTube. It's also highlighted a minimalism design, which is good-looking and occupies minimal space on your desktop. A pity point is that you may have to upgrade to premium to get access to full features, or your recorded videos will be covered with watermarks. For more details, have a look at Movavi Screen Recorder Review. Bandicam Screen Recorder Bandicam Screen Recorder is also a frequenter when comes to best screen recorders. It's particularly suitable for game recording in high quality and smooth performance, and is easy to record your webcam overlay or other external devices. It's good to consider using Bandicam to record your PC screen, especially for game players. But for recording the Mac screen, you may need to find an alternative, for the reason that it's Windows only. Final Words Above is a brief introduction of the Video Recorder function of FonePaw Screen Recorder. The desktop recorder allows users to freely record the screen and the audio of the Windows or Mac computer with simple clicks. All the steps are easy to follow so that both beginners and techies can have a smooth experience. Have a try of FonePaw Screen Recorder, you may enjoy use it to capture your desktop screen.
